We use cookies to ensure that we deliver the best user experience of our website. If you would like to, you can change your cookie settings at any time. Continue

English Language Research Journal

Aims and scope

English Language Research is a double-blind peer reviewed open access journal with an emphasis on original research into both theoretical and applied linguistic issues in context. The journal is based in the Department of English at the University of Birmingham, and has been the forum for many seminal works. It has been relaunched and expanded in 2013 as a journal committed to free online access, whilst maintaining the benchmarks of academic rigour and originality. The journal also actively welcomes submissions from postgraduate researchers and early career academics.

English Language Research welcomes contributions drawing on a wide variety of linguistic theories, methodologies and traditions. These include, but are not necessarily restricted to:

- cognitive linguistics
- computer-mediated communication
- corpus linguistics
- critical discourse analysis
- discourse analysis
- language for specific/academic purposes
- lexicography
- metaphor
- multimodal communication
- narrative
- stylistics
- systemic functional linguistics
- TEFL
- translation

For enquiries about the suitability of studies for publication in English Language Research, prospective authors are welcome to contact the editors at: elr@contacts.bham.ac.uk (mailto:elr@contacts.bham.ac.uk) .

Editorial Board / Review Board

Editors

Phil Bennett, University of Birmingham
Lee Oakley, University of Birmingham
Sarah Turner, University of Birmingham

Advisory Board

Michael Barlow, University of Auckland
Ylva Berglund-Prytz, University of Oxford
Silvia Bernardini, University of Bologna
Alice Deignan, University of Leeds
Mel Evans, University of Birmingham
Lynne Flowerdew, Hong Kong University of Science and Technology
Nicholas Groom, University of Birmingham
Susan Hunston, University of Birmingham
Chris Kennedy, University of Birmingham
Jeannette Littlemore, University of Birmingham
Sofia Malamatidou, University of Birmingham
Ute Römer, Georgia State University
Gabriela Saldanha, University of Birmingham
Michael Stubbs, Universität Trier
Caroline Tagg, University of Birmingham
Paul Thompson, University of Birmingham
Geoffrey Williams, Université de Bretagne Sud

Manuscript submission

English Language Research accepts articles written in English. In order to eliminate errors and to ensure that reviewers can fully understand the content of submissions, all authors are encouraged to have their manuscript proofread by a highly-proficient English speaker before submission.

Prospective authors should submit three separate MS Word files to the editors at: elr@contacts.bham.ac.uk (mailto:elr@contacts.bham.ac.uk) . These should be (1) a title page, (2) an abstract, and (3) the article, with accompanying figures and tables included at the end of the document. Please ensure that document (3) contains no mention of the name(s) of the author(s), especially in headers/footers and references. All references in the text to previous publications by the author(s) should be given as 'Author' (nnnn) where 'nnnn' gives the year of publication, and included in the list of references in the same manner (do not provide the title of the publication or any other identifying detail).

(1) Title page

This file should include the title of the paper and the name, institutional affiliation, and email address of each author. Please also indicate which author is to be the corresponding author.

(2) Abstract

The abstract must not exceed 150 words. It should contain an informative summary of the main argument(s), including, where relevant, the purpose, methodology, type of data, special characteristics of subjects used, and conclusions. Please also include 5 key words for the article after the abstract.

(3) Article

English Language Research welcomes original research articles of 6,000 to 8,000 words (not inclusive of any figures, diagrams, end notes, title, abstract, and references). Substantially longer or shorter articles will not be considered.

Figures and tables should be included at the end of the document. Authors should indicate clearly in the text where figures and tables should appear (e.g. <Insert Figure 1 here>).

Authors should consult the style guide section for further information on preparing a manuscript.

(4) Copyright Transfer Agreement

You will be asked to sign and abide by a Copyright Transfer Agreement, which reads as follows:

This paper is copyright of the University, the author and/or third parties. The intellectual property rights in respect of this work are as defined by The Copyright Designs and Patents Act 1988 or as modified by any successor legislation. Any use made of information contained in this paper must be in accordance with that legislation and must be properly acknowledged. Copies of the paper may be distributed and quotations used for research and study purposes, with due attribution. However, commercial distribution or reproduction in any format is prohibited without the permission of the copyright holder.

Style guide

Articles submitted to English Language Research should conform to the following guidelines:

a) Manuscripts should be submitted in MS Word.
b) Use 2.54cm page margins at the top and bottom of the page and 3.17cm margins on the left and right.
c) Text is to have 1.5 line spacing.
d) Adopt a system of clear headings with no more than 3 levels – (1), (1.1), (1.1.1).
e) Use 12pt Times New Roman throughout, with the exception of the title, which should be 14pt (e.g. Times New Roman Bold 14 for title, Times New Roman Bold 12 for heading 1, Times New Roman 12 for heading 2, and Times New Roman Italics for heading 3).
f) British or American Spelling is acceptable, but authors should use one consistently throughout. Authors should indicate which variety they have used on the title page.
g) Latin abbreviations are acceptable, if used sparingly.
h) End notes are acceptable, but are to be kept to a minimum.
i) Each page should be numbered at the bottom right.
j) Use APA Reference Style.
k) In all other respects, manuscripts should be prepared according to APA standards.

© University of Birmingham 2014