About

Joakim Sandberg is Honorary Research Fellow at the Centre for the Study of Global Ethics and Department of Philosophy since 2009. He is also Research Fellow in Practical Philosophy at University of Gothenburg, Sweden, and Associate Researcher at the Centre for European Research on Microfinance at Université Libre de Bruxelles, Belgium. His main academic interests are moral philosophy and applied ethics, especially business ethics.

Biography

Joakim has a background in both philosophy and business studies and graduated with a PhD in practical philosophy from University of Gothenburg, Sweden, in 2008. His PhD dissertation, which was widely debated in the Swedish media, critically examined conceptions of so-called ethical investing. He joined the department in 2009.

Teaching

Joakim teaches the Coporate Social Responsibility module (of the MBA Corporate Governance and Responsibility and MBA International Business) at Birmingham Business School.

Research

Joakim is currently involved in two major international research programmes: He is a co-organiser of the AHRC Research Network on Microfinance (http://www.globalethics.bham.ac.uk/projects/Microfinance.shtml), a research network which discusses ethical issues concerning microloans to the poor, and he is member of Sustainable Investments (http://www.sirp.se/), a research programme which concerns to what extent pension funds can and should acknowledge environmental standards in their investments.

Other activities

Joakim is president of the Philosophy Society at University of Gothenburg and a member of the Gothenburg Animal Research Ethics Committee.
