

Contents

INTRODUCTION

- The end of a holiday dream
- A deeply alarming tragedy
- Book Structure

CHAPTER 1: THE SUMMERLAND DEAD AND INJURED

- 1.1 The number of deaths
- 1.2 The myth of the extra deaths
- 1.3 Who were the Summerland dead?
 - Age and sex*
 - Region of origin*
 - Family groups*
- 1.4 Who were seriously injured at Summerland?
 - The burns victims: a case study*
 - The geography of the injured*
- 1.5 Summerland in the context of fire disasters in the British Isles
- 1.6 Summary
 - Appendix: list of fatalities
 - (a) Bodies recovered: the autopsy list (48)
 - (b) Deaths in hospital (2)

CHAPTER 2: CONTINENTAL ATTRACTIONS. DOMESTIC SOLUTIONS

- 2.1 Introduction
- 2.2 Derby Castle
- 2.3 Post 1945 changes
- 2.4 Countering the attractions of the Mediterranean
- 2.5 The Derby Castle Development Scheme
 - The Architects*
- 2.6 The timetable for construction
 - The Aquadrome*
 - Summerland*
- 2.7 Finance
- 2.8 The Parliamentary Debates
 - Spring 1966*
 - Autumn 1968*
- 2.9 Summary

CHAPTER 3: THIS IS TO BE THE DAWN OF A NEW ERA OF BRITISH LEISURE ARCHITECTURE

- 3.1 The Summerland design concept
- 3.2 Executing the concept
- 3.3 The Bye-Law submissions
 - The Oroglos waiver*
 - The Galbestos waiver*
- 3.4 The opening of Summerland
 - Opinion*
- 3.5 The leisure space
 - Architectural orthodoxy: the concrete shell
 - The Underground Disco (Level 1)*
 - Lower Downstairs (Level 2)*
 - Upper Downstairs (Level 3)*
 - Architectural innovation: the solarium and the upper-level terraces
 - The Solarium (Level 4)*
 - The First Terrace: The Marquee Showbar (Level 5)*
 - The Second Terrace: The Leisure Floor (Level 6)*
 - The Third Terrace: The Cruise Deck (Level 7)*
- 3.6 Summary

CHAPTER 4: 8PM AND THE HORROR STARTED

- 4.1 Introduction to the night of the fire
- 4.2 Eyewitness accounts
 - Survivors*
 - Bystanders*
- 4.3 The scenes outside the building
- 4.4 The cause of the fire
- 4.5 The emergency services
 - The Fire Brigade*
 - The Police*
 - The Hospital*
- 4.6 The press
 - The Journalist*
 - The Photographer*
- 4.7 Factors determining the attendance level
- 4.8 Summary

CHAPTER 5: THE ISLAND'S AFTERMATH OF BITTERNESS

5.1 Introduction

5.2 Comment and reaction in the seven days after the fire

DAY 1: FRIDAY, AUGUST 3RD

Police investigation

Reactions to the disaster: Groups directly involved with Summerland

The Architects

The Chief Fire Officer

Trust Houses Forte

The manufacturers of Oroglass

Reactions to the disaster: UK building and fire experts

The Agreement Board

Fire Research Station (FRS)

Fire Protection Association

London Fire Brigade

Royal Institute of British Architects (RIBA) Council Member

British Plastics Federation

UK Department of the Environment

Sheffield building control officer

Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents

The Press

Social welfare

DAY 2: SATURDAY, AUGUST 4TH

Locked doors

The kiosk and the firefighting operation

Building design: the use of Oroglass

Sprinkler and Deluge Systems

The Hunstanton Leisure Centre Project

DAY 3: SUNDAY, AUGUST 5TH

*Fire Research Station investigation
Police investigation
Social welfare
Firefighting and evacuation
The use of Oroglass
UK plastic buildings*

DAY 4: MONDAY, AUGUST 6TH

*Fire Research Station investigation
Police investigation
The Fire Chief's warning
The use of Oroglass*

DAY 5: TUESDAY, AUGUST 7TH

Tynwald proceedings, disaster fund, and police and Fire Research Station investigations

DAY 6: WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 8TH

*The cause of the fire: the fruit machine theory
Building design*

DAY 7: THURSDAY, AUGUST 9TH

*The cause and spread of the fire
The alarm system and evacuation
Locked doors
The Pwllheli holiday camp fire*

5.3 The remainder of August 1973

*The electrical fault theory resurfaces again
The Isle of Man fire brigade
The hunt for the three boys*

5.4 The three boys appear in court

5.5 Summary

CHAPTER 6: THERE ARE TO BE NO VILLAINS, JUST HUMAN ERROR

6.1 Introduction

6.2 The public inquiry process

6.3 Factors in the loss of life

6.4 The events before the fire entered the building

6.4.1 What were the actions of the staff of Summerland on discovering a fire on the mini-golf course outside the building?

The call to the fire brigade

The fire alarm system

6.4.2 How did the fire outside Summerland enter the building?

Colour Galbestos steel sheeting

The concealed gap or void; the use of Decalin

6.5 The events after the fire entered the building

6.5.1 The actions of Summerland staff

The fire alarm system

Locked exits on the Solarium floor

6.5.2 Defects in the means of escape

Escape routes from the Solarium floor

Escape behaviour in the Solarium

Escape routes from the upper-level terraces

The Flying Staircase

Other open escape routes from the terraces

The NE service staircase and behaviour of people in the Marquee Showbar

Evaluating the means of escape from the upper-level terraces

6.5.3 Reasons for the rapid spread of the fire

Furniture and Fittings

The role of Oroglas in the fire

6.6 Issues in the management of Summerland

6.7 Issues in the design of Summerland

6.8 Reaction to the Summerland report

6.9 The inquest

6.10 Law Suits

6.11 Changes to fire safety legislation and practice

Isle of Man

United Kingdom

6.12 Summary

CHAPTER 7: LEARNING THE LESSONS OF HISTORY

7.1 Introduction

7.2 The rebuilding process

7.3 The Tynwald debate

Finance

The arguments for and against rebuilding Summerland

7.4 The fun-palace re-opens

7.5 Reacting against the Lomas-Green design

7.6 Learning the lessons of a holiday holocaust

7.6.1 The location of the main entrance

7.6.2 The replacement of the floors destroyed by the fire

7.6.3 The mini-golf terrace

7.6.4 Means of escape from the Piazza floor

The staircases and escapes

The terrace entrance

The Aquadrome party wall and the cliff
The eastern half of the Piazza level
The south wall

7.6.5 The concrete shell

The Upper Downstairs or Reception Level
Summerland's fire alarm system
The Lower Downstairs: the sports halls
The new mezzanine floor
The basement: Nemo's Cave Nightclub

7.7 Does the name really matter?

7.7.1 Towards a framework for the naming of disaster sites

7.8 Summary

CHAPTER 8: SUMMERLAND SURVIVORS TELL THEIR STORIES

8.1 Questionnaire Surveys

8.2 Survivors' Stories

The Bar Manageress
The nine-year old girl
The seriously injured young girl
The Cruise Deck survivor
The compere
The pop group
The married couple
The teenage boy
The Ulster couple
The Wallace Arnold coach party
The Liverpool teenagers

8.3 Saved by fate and good fortune

Michael Slater
Ian Paterson
Stephen Haskayne
Norman Campbell
Ian Queen
Gerry Moore
Brian Naismith
Saved by higher admission charges and a late friend
The Paisley fair holiday
Terry Robinson
Ruth Grainger

CHAPTER 9: THE SUMMERLAND SITE INTO THE 21ST CENTURY

9.1 The redevelopment plans

The developer pulls out

9.2 The October 2002 flood

9.3 The demolition

9.4 The Wave

9.5 The Wave falls through

REFERENCES