

China-UK Health Policy Group Seminar

Monday 3 November, 2.00pm to 4.30pm

Garden Room, Park House,
University of Birmingham

The Health Services Management Centre at the University of Birmingham and the Health Science Centre at Peking University Beijing have established the 'China-UK Health Policy Group'. The aim of this group is to bring together academics and practitioners with an interest in healthcare policy and practice across both regions.

Following the inaugural meeting in Beijing earlier this year, we are pleased to announce that a seminar will be taking place at the Health Services Management Centre on Monday 3rd November at 2.00pm.

The seminar will have guest speakers from Peking University and UK based academics currently undertaking research in China.

As well as providing an opportunity to showcase this research, the seminar will present a platform for discussion and debate regarding key issues and trends related to healthcare reform across both regions.

All are welcome to attend.
