

Job skills award recognised

Posted on Wednesday 3rd November 2010

An award scheme designed to help Birmingham students develop their employability skills has itself won an accolade.

The Personal Skills Award (PSA), which enables students to recognise, enhance and articulate their employability effectively, won the national 'Graduate Development Preparation in Higher Education Award' from the Association of Graduate Recruiters.

Judges praised the PSA's innovative and robust design and rigorous approach in developing students for integration into work.

For further information about the PSA, visit the PSA website (<http://www.as.bham.ac.uk/psa>)