Ever wondered whether your research has commercial potential? Most research has...
So why not come along to our coffee morning and find out how the University tech transfer office can help you?

We are running a series of informal coffee mornings to introduce recent starters at the University to the role of Alta Innovations Ltd in the protection and exploitation of university generated intellectual property and knowledge. There will be a 5 minute presentation by Alta, informing you about how to get started on the path to commercialisation, followed by the opportunity to meet and chat to Alta staff over coffee and cake.

Cost: Free of charge

Please register with Debbie White via email or on the day.
