The University Music Society's 200-strong University Chorus make their Elgar Concert Hall debut under the direction of CBSO Chorus Associate Conductor, Julian Wilkins. They perform the jazz and latin American influenced The Rio Grande, which features two pianists and percussion. The UMS Chamber Choirs present a selection of popular music, including a suite of songs representing the seasons by Mascagni, Holst, Beck and Elgar.

Julian Wilkins chorus director

Anthea Ma chamber choir conductor

George Taylor chamber choir conductor

David Quigley & Jon French piano

Bethany Higham-Edwards percussion

Candida Bowtell percussion
