

Modules outside the Main Discipline (MOMD)

Adobe Flash Player or QuickTime is required for video playback. Get the latest Flash Player Get the latest version of QuickTime

- Transcript \(/accessibility/transcripts/artsandlaw/cml/luke.aspx\)

Languages for All (LfA) is the University of Birmingham's specialist language teaching team with extensive experience of delivering modern foreign language courses across the University and beyond.

Modules Outside the Main Discipline

Many degree programmes at Birmingham allow students to take a Module Outside the Main Discipline. Language modules are particularly popular. However, some degree programmes do not have provision for an MOMD, so students should check with their Department before enrolling. Most of our courses are 20 credit modules. Languages currently offered comprise Arabic, French, German, Italian, Japanese, Mandarin Chinese, and Spanish.

The entrance requirements for these courses depend on the exact nature of the programme. However, all languages are offered at beginners' level and many are available at higher levels. See Languages and Levels available as MOMD \(/facilities/cml/iwlp/momd/eligibility.aspx\)

Students who are not Beginners in the language of study are asked to consult with staff in Languages for All to assess a suitable level of entry onto their language course.