

Autumn experiments

Posted on Friday 1st November 2013

We have established our second set of experimental designs to understand how different personalities cooperate within a stigmergetic framework in four scenarios - physical synchronous, physical asynchronous and virtual synchronous, virtual asynchronous.

The experiments (from the middle of October onwards) will help build up our sample experiments which we initiated in the summer. The results will be analysed over the next two months for publications in journal articles.