

CAKE (Collaboration and Knowledge Exchange) Morning - September

Posted on Tuesday 30th July 2013

Following the success of our first CAKE morning (for details of the last cake morning please click here \(http://us5.campaign-archive1.com/?u=7305de038cada83d44783b6d6&id=ab2c973ae8&e=2b05f275e3\)), the Hub team are please to announce the speakers and topics for the August event.

For our second do.cake morning Nadia Wood and Gino Bellavia will be sharing current possible collaborative funding opportunities and bids, including an AHRC bid for Collaborative Skills Development (A project for Post Grads, and Early Careers Researchers to work with SME's through a voucher based scheme to undertake 3 month collaborative research projects).

We will also welcome from Paul Davies, Managing Director of Junction Media, to share his case study of developing content for touch tables through his collaborative work with Clusta, S.T.E.M and the National Space Centre. For more information on their project please click here \(http://www.clusta.com/work/he-stem\)

Mike Gogan of the Virtual Experience Company will be sharing his most recent project - "Salut – A Virtual Experience". This is a reconstruction of an archaeological site in Oman, showing three phases of development, including Bronze Age, Early Iron Age and Late Iron Age. We have also modelled around 40 artefacts. The project was developed in Unity with the Demonstrator Project. You can see the web version here \(http://www.omanheritage.com/\)
