

Public engagement

The bus was officially launched by Professor Dame Sally Davies, the UK's Chief Medical Officer, in Chancellor's Court at the University of Birmingham and was then opened to the public for the first time at the University of Birmingham's first community day.

It has been opened to the public at events such as the British Science Festival (<http://www.britishsociety.org/web/BritishScienceFestival/>) and University Hospital Birmingham's Research Day.