These two-day annual workshops have become the highlight of our continuing professional development programme. They are attended by around 250 occupational health practitioners including accredited occupational health specialists, safety officers, hygienists, part time occupational health practitioners and general practitioners with responsibility for Corporate Health and Safety. The object is to provide practical guidance on aspects of occupational health of current importance. Topics focusing on:-

Clinical Advances

Interactive master classes on topical subjects

Health Services

Tips from the top

Conference fees

£280 per day or £425 for those participants attending both days.

Full attendance at the symposium will be worth 10 hours of CPD accreditation

This workshop will be of great relevance to all occupational health physicians and nurses, occupational hygienists and safety practitioners, as well as human resource/personnel managers with responsibility for Corporate Health and Safety.
