

Advisors

The effective usage and strategic development of HWB•NMR services are guided by its user representatives, evaluation panels and external advisors.

Local users representing the views of Birmingham-based groups include the following individuals, and meet every quarter:

- Melanie Britton (</staff/profiles/chemistry/britton-melanie.aspx>), School of Chemistry
- Eva Hyde (</staff/profiles/biosciences/hyde-eva.aspx>), School of Biosciences
- Andrew Peet (</staff/profiles/cancer/peet-andrew.aspx>), School of Medicine
- Neil Spencer, School of Chemistry
- Mark Viant (</staff/profiles/biosciences/viant-mark.aspx>), School of Biosciences
- Steve Young (</staff/profiles/iandi/young-stephen.aspx>), School of Medicine

National users are represented by the following UK-based NMR experts, who provide advice on national priorities and usage:

- Igor Barsukov, University of Liverpool
- Matt Crump, University of Bristol
- Paul Driscoll, National Institute for Medical Research
- Tom Frenkiel, National Institute for Medical Research
- Arnout Kalverda, University of Leeds
- Steve Matthews, Imperial College, London
- Gareth Morris, University of Manchester
- Geerten Vuister, University of Leicester

European user applications are reviewed by an International Evaluation Panel consisting of established NMR investigators including:

- Iain Campbell , University of Oxford UK
- Astrid Gräslund , University of Stockholm, Sweden
- Axel Haase , University of Wurzburg, Germany
- Robin K. Harris , University of Durham, UK
- Katalin Kövér , University of Debrecen, Hungary
- Dominique Massiot, CRMHT-Orléans, France
- Chrit Moonen, University of Bordeaux, France
- Janez Plavec , National Institute of Chemistry, Slovenia
- George Ratcliffe, University of Oxford, UK
- Michael Sattler , EMBL, Germany
- Joachim Seelig , Biozentrum Basel, Switzerland
- Vladimír Sklenář, University of Brno, Czech Republic
- Anthony Watts , University of Oxford, UK

The External Advisory Board has provided guidance since the inception of HWB-NMR and includes:

- Alex Breeze, University of Leeds
- David Cowburn, New York Structural Biology Center
- Paul Driscoll, National Institute for Medical Research
- Lewis Kay, University of Toronto
- Ernest Laue, University of Cambridge
- John Markley, University of Wisconsin-Madison
- Steve Matthews, Imperial College, London
- Harald Schwalbe, Goethe University in Frankfurt
- Geerten Vuister, University of Leicester
- Jon Waltho, University of Sheffield (Wellcome Trust-appointed)

The Financial Management Group includes Carol Harris, Sue Rookes, David Lloyd and Daniel Swaine, and meet with the staff one month after each financial quarter.
