

Find us

We are located near the centre of Birmingham, UK at the northwest corner of the Edgbaston campus of the University of Birmingham.

HWB•NMR is conveniently located near University Station, with trains every ten minutes from New Street Station in the centre of Birmingham. We are thirty minutes by taxi from Birmingham International Airport (BHX).

The building is located on the newly named Brailsford Drive, which junctions with Vincent Drive at the corner of the School of Economics and across from the ICT Centre.

The nearest intersection is Pritchatts Road to the north and to the south is University Station and the Medical School.

Parking

There is a small parking area and a disabled parking spot in front of the NMR building, and more further down Brailsford Drive (which require a University parking permit). Paid parking spaces can be found at the Pritchatts Road & Vincent Drive car parks. Short term parking is also possible along Farquhar Road and Pritchatts Road. Note that cars parked illegally along Brailsford Drive may be ticketed or towed.
