

Birmingham Business School Credit Crunch Breakfast Briefing

Posted on Thursday 16th April 2009

Neena Gill MP will be the keynote speaker at the University of Birmingham's Business School breakfast briefing on Friday 17th April at 7.30am.

Neena Gill represents the West Midlands in the European Parliament and, at this event, will be speaking about the European Union's response to the recession.

This briefing will open with a talk by the University of Birmingham's Professor of Entrepreneurship and Innovation, Robert Cressy, on a neo-Keynesian solution to the global recession, and a proposal for strategic government support for West Midlands businesses.
