

Case studies

Birmingham's research is having a major impact on the UK sports industry and the London 2012 Olympics. This includes assessing the legacy of the London 2012 Games, developing elites athletes' performance and tackling the growing problems of childhood obesity.

Find out more about some the important sports and Olympic themed research projects happening at Birmingham

- The Legacies of Mega-Sporting Events \(/olympics/research/case-studies/The-Legacies-of-Mega-Sporting-Events.aspx\)
- Understanding the psychology of doping \(/olympics/research/case-studies/Understanding-the-psychology-of-doping.aspx\)
- The East German sport miracle \(/olympics/research/case-studies/The-East-German-Sport-Miracle.aspx\)
- Tackling childhood obesity \(/olympics/research/case-studies/Tackling-childhood-obesity.aspx\)