

Professional development

Boost your personal IQ

You can boost your personal knowledge and resources by tapping into our world-class teaching.

Innovation is a key driver in the financial success of any business, but the process of innovation can be difficult and many companies find they lack personnel with the relevant skills and knowledge.

We can help you train your key personnel as we offer an array of Continuing Professional Development (CPD) courses. CPD incorporates a wide range of training courses - everything from one day general interest events to masters level courses are included .

Find Continuing Professional Development courses \(/postgraduate/courses/cpd/listing.aspx\)

In need of some expertise?

Do you need to find an expert in a particular field to do some consultancy work? If so email \(mailto:c.mansell@bham.ac.uk\) us your requirements and we will try to find a suitable match.

Conferencing facilities

If you are looking for a venue to host your own in-house training courses, we have a variety of training rooms available on campus - the perfect environment for learning. Our Hospitality and Accommodation Services team can organise your entire event, including refreshments and overnight accommodation if required.

 Richard Mitchell, Service General Manager for Guy's and St Thomas' Hospital in London "I would thoroughly recommend further study at Birmingham to anyone currently working in a healthcare environment."

 Tony Leach, Construction Company "The fact that I had nearly completed the MBA at Birmingham when I was promoted to Divisional Director with my current company is significant .... it demonstrated that I had engaged in the necessary professional development required to fulfill a senior role."