

THE POSTGRADUATE TIMES

Discover the latest news from Birmingham's postgraduate community

The Postgraduate Times is the University of Birmingham's newsletter dedicated to prospective postgraduate students.

It covers the wide-range of events that take place across the University and showcases the world-class research that Birmingham's postgraduates and staff are conducting. Alongside this, are contributions from current students that reflect their own experiences and offer useful information on postgraduate study, life, and how to get involved in Birmingham's exciting, growing, and friendly postgraduate community.
