

CHLSP Director to take part in debate on Organ Donation

Posted on Monday 27th February 2012

Birmingham Law School's Professor of Health Care Law, Jean McHale, is taking part in the David Price Memorial Debate with the biomedical ethicist Professor John Harris of the University of Manchester. The debate will take place at the NHS Blood and Transplant 1st National Donation Congress in London on Wednesday 7 March 2012.

The debate is on the motion "Consent for Donation is a Luxury that we cannot afford".

Professor McHale is the Director of the University of Birmingham's Centre for Health Law, Science and Policy.
