

Undergraduate American and Canadian Studies at Birmingham

Posted on Tuesday 17th September 2013

Dr Helen Laville (</staff/profiles/history/laville-helen.aspx>) delivers the September 2013 open day talk on studying American and Canadian Studies at undergraduate degree level (</research/activity/acs/undergraduate/index.aspx>) at the University of Birmingham.

Adobe Flash Player or QuickTime is required for video playback. Get the latest Flash Player Get the latest version of QuickTime

- 00:25 - Interview with last year's ACS graduates
- 04:12 - Why study ACS at Birmingham?
- 07:00 - The Department
- 08:20 - What undergraduate programmes do we run?
- 09:08 - First year (single honours)
- 11:45 - Second year (single honours)
- 12:50 - Third year (year abroad)
- 14:59 - Work placement option (year abroad)
- 16:40 - Final year
- 17:29 - Entry requirements (single honours)
- 18:25 - American Studies and Film
- 20:13 - Joint honours
- 21:29 - English and American Literature
- 22:10 - What happens next?
- 23:17 - Sources of further information

Privacy | Legal | Cookies and cookie policy | Accessibility | Site map | Website feedback | Charitable information

© University of Birmingham 2015

