

For students

The following information may be useful not just for students who are following an academic path which includes the study of Africa, but for any student in the University with a wider interest in topics such as international migration or languages.

- MOMDs \(/research/activity/africa-hub/students/momds.aspx\)
- CWAS Society \(/research/activity/africa-hub/students/cwassoc.aspx\)
- Language courses \(/research/activity/africa-hub/students/language-courses.aspx\)
Some of these courses have been recommended to us by students and staff, but they are not officially endorsed by the University of Birmingham. For internal language courses and modules please see MOMDs \(/research/activity/africa-hub/students/momds.aspx\) and our Open Access courses run by the Centre for Modern Languages \(http://www.birmingham.ac.uk/facilities/cml/open/index.aspx\).
- Volunteering opportunities \(/research/activity/africa-hub/students/volunteering.aspx\)
- Information for students from South Africa about studying at the University of Birmingham. \(http://www.birmingham.ac.uk/international/students/country/southafrica.aspx\)