

Professor Geoff Eley

Professor Geoff Eley will visit Birmingham 21 June – 5 July 2015 and will be hosted by Professor Matthew Hilton \(/staff/profiles/history/hilton-matthew.aspx\).

Geoff Eley is the Karl Pohrt Distinguished University Professor of Contemporary History, as well as being a faculty member of the German Department, at the University of Michigan. Professor Eley has been nominated by Professor Matthew Hilton \(http://www.birmingham.ac.uk/staff/profiles/history/hilton-matthew.aspx\) from the Department of History \(http://www.birmingham.ac.uk/schools/historycultures/departments/history/index.aspx\) and Modern British Studies \(/research/activity/mbs/index.aspx\)

Geoff Eley is an internationally renowned scholar with broad research interests including German and British history, global history, the European Left, nations and nationalism, citizenship, social theory, and the relationship of history to theory and the social sciences.

If you would like more information please contact Professor Matthew Hilton \(mailto:m.j.hilton@bham.ac.uk\) or Sue Gilligan \(mailto:s.gilligan@bham.ac.uk\).