

Workshops and Events

IAS workshops are typically one day in length and aimed at bringing together the relevant disciplinary interests to generate a coherent theme and the potential for the key academic questions that a theme will address, likely outcomes.

Below are details of our planned workshops which aim to explore cutting-edge issues in research through cross-departmental collaboration. For further details regarding each workshop, click on the title of the workshop. You will also be able to find contact details for the leader of each workshop should you wish to register your interest.

Employment and well-being: How much work should we do in the 'good life'?

Thursday 5th February 2015

Muirhead Tower, Room 710

This presentation will review research concerning the effects of employment on well-being, and the reasons given as to why employment has this positive effect. This presentation will draw together theoretical models of unemployment and well-being, and empirical studies of the quality of part-time work, the effects of job insecurity and zero-hours contracts, to suggest answers to these questions and consider the type of research that might provide better answers to the question.

Lectures Talks and Workshops

Quo Vadis Olympism: a multidisciplinary exploration

Tuesday 24th February 2015

Michael Tippett Room (Third Floor), Staff House

The aim of the workshop is to attempt a new, interdisciplinary approach to the subject of 'Olympism' drawing on politics, policy, linguistics, history, heritage studies and Olympic studies more broadly.

Lectures Talks and Workshops

Charities and their Publics

Wednesday 11th March 2015

TBC

This workshop brings together a post-disciplinary team of experts, academics and practitioners to understand how the charitable sector relates to its publics and, the way in which they can ameliorate both short and long-term circumstances for the 'beneficiaries'.

Lectures Talks and Workshops

Deterrence vs. Detection

Wednesday 29th April 2015

TBC

The workshop will bring together global leaders in the fields of doping research and governance to discuss and debate the latest issues affecting all those involved in the 'doping in sport' industry.

Lectures Talks and Workshops

Making Resources Speak: themes and methods of the New Materialism

Monday 29th June 2015

TBC

This workshop will explore paths towards theoretically informed but empirically grounded studies and provides a platform for reflections on the proper place of the material among the range of social actors.

Lectures Talks and Workshops

