

Transcription of Codex Sinaiticus available for download

Posted on Thursday 31st May 2012

The electronic transcription of Codex Sinaiticus made by a team at ITSEE is now available for download from the website www.codexsinaiticus.org (<http://www.codexsinaiticus.org/>)

The download page, with a description of the XML encoding used, is www.codexsinaiticus.org/en/project/transcription\_download.aspx (http://www.codexsinaiticus.org/en/project/transcription\_download.aspx)

Since the transcription of Codex Sinaiticus, the IGNTP has developed a set of guidelines for the XML transcription of New Testament manuscripts, the latest version of which can be found on the University of Birmingham Institutional Research Archive (<http://epapers.bham.ac.uk/1656/>). The IGNTP transcriptions are published online at www.iohannes.com (<http://www.iohannes.com/XML/start.xml>).

As with all ITSEE transcriptions, these files are licensed as Creative Commons by-nc-sa to encourage their re-use: we would be glad to hear (<mailto:H.A.G.Houghton@bham.ac.uk>) from projects or developers who go on to work with this data.
