

Chronic Disease Research into Diabetes Study

What is the natural history of diabetes and its complications?

Chronic Disease Research into Diabetes is an ambitious study to follow the progress of people with diabetes in the 21st century.

Many people with diabetes live healthy, active lives while others develop significant problems.

Why the difference? Is it all about blood sugar or are there other physical, psychological or genetic factors involved?

To help answer these questions we are inviting people across the Midlands to take part in our study \(/research/activity/mds/trials/pccrtu/trials/cdr/participants/index.aspx\).
