

Visits and open days

As many of our prospective students tell us, the only way to really appreciate what Birmingham has to offer, is to come and see it for yourself.

Reading and research can give you vital information. To get the real picture, you are welcome to come and visit us, talk to our current students, quiz our lecturers, explore the campus and see where you might live. For more information please go to the University of Birmingham Visits and Open Days web pages (<http://www.birmingham.ac.uk/students/visit/index.aspx>).