

Mind the (Housing) Wealth Gap: Intergenerational justice and family welfare

Posted on Thursday 8th December 2011

From 1 January, Karen Rowlingson and Ricky Joseph will be working on the Mind the \(Housing\) Wealth Gap: Intergenerational Justice and Family Welfare project, led by Dr Beverley Searle, the University of St Andrews and in partnership with the University of Durham. The research will take place over 3 years and will focus on the transfers of wealth, particularly housing wealth, within families.

More details

If you want to find out more, please contact Karen Rowlingson at k.rowlingson@bham.ac.uk.