

Military history

Of all of the disciplines and sub-specialisations within History the military spectrum is possibly the broadest of all.

This breadth alone has made its study both challenging and fascinating. The scope of the literature serves an audience which varies from the highest levels of intellectual endeavour through to the enthusiast.

We aim to cater for this spectrum through our research, teaching and our public programmes of seminars, lectures and day schools. We have students engaged at every level from the popular BA in War Studies through our prestigious Masters' programmes to doctoral level research and beyond.

- Friends \(/research/activity/warstudies/staff/friends/index.aspx\)
- Public seminar programme \(/research/activity/warstudies/events/index.aspx\)