The Design & Technology teacher is planning to design, build and race a rocket car with his club members. They are looking for an ambassador with an engineering background and an interest in cars to support the club. In the first instance just a visit to see the project and talk about your experience and interests. Further support can be offered virtually by communicating with club members by email and responding to blog posts. a final visit to see the completed car and watch it race. If you have time any more visits would be more than welcome.
