

Fundamentals of leadership

Posted on Friday 30th August 2013

Students studying a course from the suite of BSc Business Management programmes \(/schools/business/departments/management/courses/index.aspx\) at Birmingham Business School undertake a 'Fundamentals of Leadership' module as part of their degree.

The module explores what leadership is and the difference leadership makes and why, looking at the theory of leadership and presenting and debating leadership in a variety of 'real life' settings.

The video below features directors and leaders from different industries, who are all members of the Birmingham Business School Advisory Board \(/schools/business/about/advisory-board.aspx\), discussing what leadership means to them, as well as offering advice to people who want to go on to become leaders themselves.

Adobe Flash Player or QuickTime is required for video playback. Get the latest Flash Player Get the latest version of QuickTime