About

Hazel has a 25 year background in the broadcast & media industry, including 18 years on screen for Sky News. She runs media consultancy projects and works closely with a number of media partners across the city. Her close affiliation with the Business School began in 2003 with the development of modules which reflect the growing importance of PR and business communications in the marketing mix.

Her other projects across the University include the studio launch of the Universitas 21 summer school, communication programmes for the Ford Foundation, Chevening Scholars, and for the International MBA Public Policy Marketing module.

Hazel has introduced, podcasting, social networking and twitter onto modules offered by the school's Marketing Department.
