

Economics Student Profiles

The further you progress into your degree, the more you can tailor-make and specialise in the fields you most enjoy

Sonia Rehman, BSc Economics

Find out about studying an Economics course at the Birmingham Business School and about life on campus from both current and past students. Hear their experience's with the degrees and courses offered \(/schools/business/departments/economics/courses/index.aspx\) and what makes the University of Birmingham campus \(/community/university-campus/index.aspx\) such an exceptional place to study.

Jack Thompson, Economics BSc (/schools/business/student-profiles/undergraduate/economics/jack-thompson-bsc-economics.aspx)

When deciding which University to study economics, Birmingham seemed like the perfect choice. Not only was it a top ranking university with incredible employment prospects but the choice of modules available to economics students was really appealing.

Sonia Rehman, Economics BSc (/schools/business/student-profiles/undergraduate/economics/sonia-rehman-bsc-economics.aspx)

When I joined the University of Birmingham it was ranked 4th in the Guardian university league tables for BSc Economics and this was justified right from day 1. The programme offers a diverse range of modules from Microeconomics and Macroeconomics, to Econometric Theory and Game Theory.

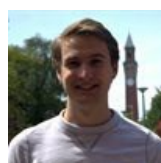

Olumide Aborisode, MSc Video Profile (/schools/business/student-profiles/undergraduate/economics/olumide-aborisode-msc-video-profile.aspx)

Video Profile - Olumide Aborisode discusses graduating from Birmingham Business School with an MSc in Environmental and Natural Resource Economics.

Anique Buddhdev, Mathematical Economics & Statistics BSc (/schools/business/student-profiles/undergraduate/economics/anique-buddhdev-bsc-mathematical-economics-statistics.aspx)

During my A levels I knew I wanted to study an Economics related degree but I also relished the statistics aspect of mathematics. Henceforth the University of Birmingham was the perfect choice for me, it is one of the few universities that have a degree which merges these two interests.

Michael Timms, Economics BSc (/schools/business/student-profiles/undergraduate/economics/michael-timms-bsc-economics.aspx)

I joined the University of Birmingham during a time of great change and uncertainty. With ever more competition for places throughout the UK, especially for prestigious courses such as Economics, my offer from Birmingham was a great achievement in itself.

Chanel Sharp, Economics BSc with CEES (/schools/business/student-profiles/undergraduate/economics/chanel-sharp-bsc-economics-with-cees.aspx)

Unwilling to just study Economics as a sole subject, and with a keen interest in Russian history and culture, the decision to study Economics with Central and East European Studies was perhaps unexpected at first, but is the perfect fit for me.

Displaying 1 to 6 of 11

Previous 1 2 \(/schools/business/student-profiles/undergraduate/economics/index.aspx?stylemediatype=print&RelatedItemsList_List_GoToPage=2\) Next Next \(/schools/business/student-profiles/undergraduate/economics/index.aspx?stylemediatype=print&RelatedItemsList_List_GoToPage=2\)