

College welcomes Distance Learning PhD students

Posted on Tuesday 15th October 2013

'Breaking out from the "Vampire! Robot! Apocalypse!" speed-dating/networking event, many of this year's cohort of Distance Learning PhD students in the College of Arts and Law look much happier than the grey skies might have suggested!

This was a fun event with a serious message, and everyone felt they had gained something new from the activity. Having a group photo for the class of Autumn 2013 memorialises a fantastic fortnight's residence for all staff and students involved.

Dr Diana Spencer, College of Arts and Law Graduate School

- A larger version of the photo is available on our Flickr account \(http://www.flickr.com/photos/artsatbirmingham/10421556313/\)

Privacy | Legal | Cookies and cookie policy | Accessibility | Site map | Website feedback | Charitable information

© University of Birmingham 2015

