Posted on Tuesday 23rd April 2013

Congratulations to Gemma Bullen, a year 2 PhD student jointly between Prof Jim Tucker's (</staff/profiles/chemistry/tucker-james.aspx>) and Dr Anna Peacock's (</staff/profiles/chemistry/peacock-anna.aspx>) groups, who has recently won first prize for her poster at the 2013 RSC Bio-Organic Group Postgraduate Research Symposium. Her work is an investigation of how anthracene can be used to probe and control biomolecules by utilising its photochemical properties.
