

Students take part in the Poetry Bites for Human Rights event

Posted on Monday 19th December 2011

The Poetry Bites for Human Rights event was held at The Kitchen Garden Café, Kings Heath on Tuesday 6th December. Fifty-six poems were read by a combination of English PGDipEd students, members of Bournville Amnesty International and regular attendees at Poetry Bites. Most poems featured the theme of Human Rights. Several were written specially for the occasion.
