About

Agnieszka earned her PhD in Sociology from Aston University, Birmingham and was previously working as a Research Associate at Imperial College London.

A social scientist by background, Agnieszka joined the Jubilee Centre for Character and Values in November 2013. She previously worked as a Research Associate in Imperial College London's Department of Primary Care and Public Health, where she gained extensive experience in leading and conducting health services research. Agnieszka also served as a General Advisor for Research Design Service London providing research design advice to those preparing proposals for submission to peer-reviewed funding competitions for applied health or social care research. Her research interests are at the interface of sociology and health services, with particular focus on sociology of professional groups, organisation and management of care, interprofessional education and collaboration, and qualitative research.
