

Dan Ashmore, BSc Geology

Studying for a BSc in Geology at Birmingham university gave me a good foundation for general geology. It allowed me to sample many areas of economic geology, leading to a key interest in mining geology that I took to postgraduate level.

I now work as a exploration geologist at Kansanshi copper-gold mine in Zambia carrying out duties such as drill rig management, core logging, interpretation of geological data and geological modelling.

'Studying for a BSc in Geology at Birmingham university gave me a good foundation for general geology.'

Dan Ashmore