

INLOGOV celebrates achievements of graduates

Posted on Tuesday 10th January 2012

Congratulations to all our recent graduates!

Sixteen students from the Institute of Local Government Studies graduated at the recent University degree congregation ceremonies in December. Graduands and their guests were invited to celebrate their achievements with staff from the Institute of Local Government Studies at a reception following the degree congregation ceremony on 14th December.

Awards

Prizes were awarded to Rachel Harris, MSc in Local Policy and Politics who received the Public Management Research Prize for best dissertation.

Sarah Page (MSc in Public Management) and Malcolm Burch (MBA Public Service) (both pictured, below) shared the Public Management Prize for best overall performance.

The Institute would like to congratulate all its graduates and wish them every success for the future.

