

The Gender in Global Governance Net-Work

Posted on Tuesday 19th June 2012

The Gender in Global Governance Net-Work @ <http://genderinglobalgovernancenetwork.net> is a new resource for academics, research students, policy-makers, practitioners and members of the public interested in gender and governance.

The Net-Work aims:

- To provide useful information, news, web-links and commentary, including regular blogs on areas of interest to our membership
- To foster high-level discussion and dialogue between academics, research students, policy-makers, practitioners and members of the public interested in gender and governance
- To facilitate networking among academics, practitioners, NGOs and other civil-society constituencies
- To host online conferences and events.

Members can comment on posts and interact with others in the Discussion Forum. Membership must be approved by the Forum Administrators. Please email for details:
