

Postgraduate research degrees in Law

Birmingham Law School is home to a broad range of internationally excellent and world-leading legal academics, with a thriving postgraduate research community. We have a range of scholarships and funding opportunities \(/schools/law/courses/research/scholarships.aspx\) available to support excellent research students on our postgraduate research programmes \(/postgraduate/courses/research/law/law.aspx\).

Specialist research centres at Birmingham Law School include CEPLER \(/facilities/CEPLER/index.aspx\), the Centre for Health Law, Science and Policy \(/research/activity/CHLSP/index.aspx\), the Institute of European Law \(/research/activity/iel/index.aspx\), and the Institute of Judicial Administration \(/research/activity/ija/index.aspx\). There are also a range of smaller research clusters, in areas including jurisprudence, commercial law, criminal justice, healthcare law, international law, and socio-legal studies.

In addition to these broad clusters, the staff at Birmingham Law School are interested in supervising postgraduate research on a wide range of topics. Research proposals are welcomed from the full range of perspectives: including comparative, doctrinal, historical, international, theoretical, ethical, socio-legal and criminological approaches to law.
