

■ French Studies

■ About

■ Undergraduate study

■ Postgraduate study

■ Research

Staff

■ News

■ Events

■ Contact

Staff in French Studies

Professor Emeritus Jennifer Birkett

Emeritus Professor of French Studies

I held the Established Chair of French Studies from 1990 to 2011. My research derives from specialist bases in French Studies, but is also cross-disciplinary and interdisciplinary. In general, I am interested in the relations of history, politics and narrative form - the operations of ideology in prose fiction, as they manifest themselves in particular texts. In French Studies, I work ...

Print this page

Download as PDF

Circles of Influence

Postgraduate Open Day
18 March 2015

Dr Craig Blunt

Senior Lecturer in French Studies

I was appointed to the University of Birmingham in 1995. My main areas of interest are all aspects of contemporary French politics and society.

Dr Edward Boothroyd

Teaching Fellow in French Studies

Following undergraduate and postgraduate study at the University of Birmingham, I was appointed to the position of Teaching Fellow in French Studies in September 2011. My specialism is in 20th-century literature and French theatre from the 17th-century onwards.

Dr Leslie Brook

Honorary Senior Research Fellow

I have published widely in various genres of Medieval literature: epic, romance and translation from Latin to Medieval French, with a particular interest in the translation by Jean de Meun of the Letters of Abelard and Heloise. Latterly I have been working with Prof Glyn Burgess on publishing editions of Old French narrative lays.

Professor Martyn Cornick

Professor of French Cultural History

I hold a Personal Chair in French Cultural History. My main research areas are 20th-century Cultural History (especially Jean Paulhan and the Nouvelle Revue française), the life and work of Armand Petitjean, and Franco-British Inter-Cultural Studies, with a particular focus on the French presence in London.

Dr Russell Cousins

Honorary Senior Lecturer

I have research interests in Zola's fiction, French Cinema and screen adaptation. My publications include studies on Zola, various aspects of the cinema and together with Ron Hallmark and Ian Pickup, I have published books and articles on studying in France.

Dr Béatrice Damamme-Gilbert

Senior Lecturer in French Studies

I first came to Birmingham as a lectrice as part of the on-going exchange with the University of Nancy II, Lorraine (France). I am a specialist in the works of Julien Gracq, one of the foremost French literary figures of the 2nd half of the 20th century, and also of J.M.G. Le Clézio, the 2008 Nobel prize winner. I am now the longest serving member of the Department of French Studies.

Professor Lisa Downing

Professor of French Discourses of Sexuality

I am Professor of French Discourses of Sexuality. My work is located at the intersection of sexuality and gender studies, cultural studies, and critical theory. My research has a European, especially French, bent and also focuses on comparative European and North American contexts. My most recent publications have been on the gendering, sexualization, and othering of the figure of the ...

Dr Sarah Fishwick

Language Tutor in French Studies Programme Lead, French Studies

I teach on numerous French language programmes, including final year translation, and lecture on French women's writing (twentieth century onwards). I am currently Programme Lead for French Studies.

Dr Stephen Forcer

Senior Lecturer in French Studies

Academia.edu Profile • Twitter

I completed my first degree and MA at the University of Warwick, before moving to Wadham College, Oxford to write my doctoral thesis under the supervision of Professor Malcolm Bowie. I joined the University of Birmingham in September 2005, having previously held temporary posts at Keble College, Oxford and the Universities of ...

Mrs Agnès Gower

Language Coordinator (French Studies)

I first came to Birmingham as a Colloquial Assistant (lectrice), as part of the University's long-standing exchange with The Université Lumière Lyon 2. After a few months back in France, I decided to return to Birmingham and the Department of French Studies, again as a Colloquial Assistant. I have not left since.

...

Dr Louise Hardwick

Lecturer in French Studies

AHRC Early Career Leadership Fellow (on research leave 2014-2016)

Lecturer in French, specialising in Francophone Postcolonial literature, film and culture.

Co-programme lead MA in Colonial and Postcolonial Studies

Founder, FRANCOPOCO network

ORCID ID

RESEARCHER ID

Nicholas Hunter

Language Tutor

I teach on a variety of language and content modules. I have particular interests in 17th-Century French literature and culture and in 20th-Century literature

Dr Kate Ince

Reader in French Film and Gender Studies

My work focuses on French, European and women's film-making, on film theory and aesthetics, and on twentieth-century French and feminist thought.

Dr Angela Kershaw

Senior Lecturer in French Studies

I am a twentieth century specialist with particular interests in the inter-war and Second World War periods, gender, translation studies and travel writing.

Dr Rachel Luckman

Teaching Fellow

I have particular interests in Nineteenth Century French religion and the cinema of the Nouvelle Vague

Dr Claire MacLeod Peters

Teaching Fellow

I specialise in contemporary French film and fiction, with particular interests in representations of Paris, memories of the Holocaust and the Algerian war, postcolonial theory and various aspects of twentieth-century French thought.

Dr Wendy Perkins

Honorary Senior Lecturer in French Studies

Since I retired as a Senior Lecturer in the Department, I have been focusing on full-time research into the lives of women in seventeenth-century France.

Professor Peter Ricketts

Honorary Professor

Peter T. Ricketts, Honorary Professor at the University of Birmingham, died suddenly on the 6th May 2013, at the age of eighty. He was in the midst of several major projects. To name but two: the completion of volume 3 of his vast database of medieval Occitan texts in verse and prose, the Concordance de l'Occitan Médiéval(Brepols); a French translation of ...

Dr Berny Sèbe

Lecturer in colonial and post-colonial studies

My research interests revolve around the colonial and post-colonial encounters between European and non-European worlds, in particular in the cultural and political realms. My recent works look at the making of imperial heroes in Britain and France since the era of 'New imperialism' (second half of the nineteenth century), the history of the conquest and decolonization of the Sahara, ...

Dr Emma Tyler

Teaching Fellow in French Studies

I specialise in the teaching of French grammar and writing skills at all levels. I run a second-year specialist module called Translation in Practice, as well as teaching practical translation skills at final year and at MA level. I am the Senior Admissions Tutor for the School.

Dr Emma Wagstaff

Lecturer in French Studies

I came to Birmingham in 2006, and am based in the Department of Modern Languages. Among a range of teaching and research interests, I am particularly keen to promote the study of French literature and the visual arts, and the interactions between them.

Dr Andrew Watts

Lecturer in French Studies

I was appointed to the University of Birmingham in 2007, having previously taught at the universities of Bristol and Newcastle. I am a specialist in nineteenth-century French prose fiction, especially the work of Honoré de Balzac. My current research focusses on adaptations of classic novels from this period in a variety of different media including silent film, graphic novels, and stage ...

Professor Dennis Wood

Emeritus Professor of French Literature and Chevalier dans l'Ordre des Palmes Académiques

In the French department I taught on undergraduate and postgraduate courses on literature and cinema, including a final-year option on Godard, Resnais and Rohmer. I was Head of Department from 1997 to 2002. In my retirement I have continued to edit Benjamin Constant's Correspondance générale with Dr C P Courtney (Christ's College, Cambridge) and Dr Adrienne J Tooke ...

Emeritus Professor of Nineteenth-Century French Studies

Professor Ceri Crossley

Part-time tutors

Ms Victoria Harrison

Assistant Language Tutors - room 403

- Ms Juliette Berthelot (Montpellier)
- Ms Anne-Sophie Vilcot (Lyon)
- Ms Manon Lance (Toulouse)

Bookmark this

Essential

Courses
Order a prospectus
Vacancies
Schools and departments
Contact us
Maps and directions
Open days

Current students

Welcome 2014
my.bham student portal
Canvas learning environment
Current student intranet
Schools and departments
Guild of Students
UB Sport

Current staff

Staff intranet
Schools and departments
Vacancies
my.bham staff portal
Equality and Diversity

Services and facilities

Libraries
Facilities search
Conferences and hospitality
Businesses
Freedom of information
Supplier zone
UB Sport

Culture and collections

Our collections
Barber Institute of Fine Arts
Bramall Music Building
Cadbury Research Library: Special Collections
Lapworth Museum of Geology
Research and Cultural Collections

