

Young curator recruitments

Posted on Tuesday 28th February 2012

Four students from the History of Art department, Lili Dreikhausen, Lauren McInerney, Emily Woolley and Sophy Thomas, have all been selected by the Royal Birmingham Society of Artists (<http://www.rbsa.org.uk/>) (RBSA) as Young Curators to research, select, hang and interpret an exhibition of paintings by members of the Society.

The RBSA is an artist-led charity which supports artists and promotes engagement with the visual arts through a range of inclusive activities: exhibitions, workshops and demonstrations. Congratulations to them!
