

Undergraduate admissions Facebook group

The School of Mechanical Engineering operates a Facebook group for all undergraduate applicants, providing an informal platform for you to discuss your prospective course with current students and admissions staff.

Confused about what specific course is right for you? Curious about possible projects and assignments? How many lessons you have a week? Maybe you'd like to know more about Birmingham as a city? Or what it's like to live in halls of residence? Please feel free to post your queries on the wall and either one of our current students or a member of our admissions staff will endeavour to assist you as soon as possible. If you need specific clarification on entry requirements please contact the admissions team directly.
