

David Morris

Doctoral Researcher

School of Psychology \(/schools/psychology/index.aspx\)

Contact details

Email dsm170@bham.ac.uk (<mailto:dsm170@bham.ac.uk>)

School of Psychology
University of Birmingham
Edgbaston
Birmingham
B15 2TT
UK

About

PhD Supervisor: Dr Brandon Stewart \(http://www.birmingham.ac.uk/schools/psychology/people/profile.aspx?ReferenceId=73266\)

My PhD topic concerns improving intergroup relations and civic engagement by drawing upon the psychological understanding of socio-political factors in attitude construction. This work uses quantitative methods and combines insights from areas including: political psychology, moral psychology, motivated social cognition and the social psychology of intergroup relations. This research ultimately aims to improve intergroup relations through an understanding of how these different domains impact upon perceptions of social policies and explicit/implicit intergroup attitudes.

This work is funded by the Economic Social Research Council (ESRC)

Qualifications

MRes Psychology
BSc (First class Hons) Psychology

Research

Research Group: Social Cognition and Neuroscience (SCoNe) Research Group

Research interests:

- Improving Intergroup Relations
- Social and Political Psychology
- Social Policy Perceptions
- Implicit Processes and Motivated Social Cognition