

Current undergraduate student views

Find out what our current students have to say about studying within the School, and life in the city of Birmingham.

Rachel Moriarty (BA Joint Honours Philosophy and English Literature)

Adobe Flash Player or QuickTime is required for video playback. Get the latest Flash Player Get the latest version of QuickTime

- Transcript

Sarah Edwards (BA Philosophy, 3rd Year)

Adobe Flash Player or QuickTime is required for video playback. Get the latest Flash Player Get the latest version of QuickTime

- Transcript

Catherine Weston (3rd year Joint hon. Philosophy and Theology)

Adobe Flash Player or QuickTime is required for video playback. Get the latest Flash Player Get the latest version of QuickTime

- Transcript \(/accessibility/transcripts/artsandlaw/ptr/catherine-weston.aspx\)

Hugo Dodd (3rd year Philosophy BA)

I came from Hertford and the first thing I noticed about the University of Birmingham, compared to my other university choices, was the campus. That is: how green and well kept the campus is. Given the size of the university in terms of the number of students, it is laid out very effectively and therefore had a much more welcoming feel than other campus

I also chose Birmingham because I am from a small county town and the thought of living in a huge city was crucial. Indeed it was daunting at first, but equally exciting. Furthermore, there is constantly so much going on that I am extremely happy I chose to study here.

My course is exactly what I was looking for in that the staff are all exceedingly friendly. This is probably the best thing about studying here, that I feel like I know every member personally. The city itself could not be more diverse, having something to offer to all. Another bonus of the university is its own train station offering quick access to the city and surrounding areas.

