

Professor appointed to role at School of Social Care

Posted on Thursday 14th July 2011

Professor Jon Glasby has recently been appointed as a Senior Fellow for the School of Social Care Research (SSCR). A virtual body under the National Institute for Health Research, SSCR is a partnership between six leading academic centres of social care research in England - its aim being to improve the evidence base for adult social care practice