

Where is the infrastructure to make public services commissioning work?

Posted on Friday 3rd February 2012

We are told that commissioners are the key to more efficient and improved public services, but without proper training we could be setting them up to fail.

HSMC's Professor Jon Glasby's article 'Where is the infrastructure to make public services commissioning work?' appeared in The Guardian on 31 January.

Read the full article. \(http://www.guardian.co.uk/society/2012/jan/31/commissioning-public-services-training-infrastructure?newsfeed=true\)

