Professor Russell Mannion (</staff/profiles/social-policy/mannion-russell.aspx>) has been invited to give the keynote address to the annual conference of the Polish Society for Quality and Safety in Health Care, to be held in Krakow, 20-21 May. The title of his presentation is 'Hospital board governance of quality and patient safety: recent evidence from the UK and USA'.

The presentation draws on Russell's work on organisational culture and health care quality as well as the findings of a NIHR study he is currently leading which is exploring the linkages between board governance and patient safety outcomes across all hospitals in England.
