

INLOGOV and HSMC jointly evaluate the Home Truths Project

Posted on Thursday 4th July 2013

The Institute of Local Government Studies (INLOGOV) (/schools/government-society/departments/local-government-studies/index.aspx) and the Health Services Management Centre (HSMC) are jointly evaluating the Home Truths Project.

Led by iMPower Consulting, this is a joint health and council initiative exploring different approaches to improving relationships between adult social care and GPs. It currently involves 11 local authority areas involved in England and Scotland, and uses surveys of GPs, older people and social workers to identify local practice, perspectives and relationships as a basis on which to develop collaborative projects. The evaluation will be completed by September 2013.

Further information

More information on the Home Truths project (<http://www.impower.co.uk/en/home-truths-436.html>)

Contact Robin Miller, r.s.miller@bham.ac.uk (<mailto:r.s.miller@bham.ac.uk>).