About

Dr Nicholas Griffiths, Senior Lecturer, was an undergraduate and postgraduate student at Cambridge University and has taught in the Department of Hispanic Studies at Birmingham since September 1991.

He is the author of The Cross and the Serpent: Religious Repression and Resurgence in Colonial Peru (<http://www.hispanic.bham.ac.uk/research/dept/history.shtml>) (published in both English and in Spanish) and Sacred Dialogues: Christianity and Native Religions in the Colonial Americas 1492-1700 (<http://www.hispanic.bham.ac.uk/research/dept/history.shtml>). He is also co-editor of Spiritual Encounters: Interactions between Christianity and Native Religions in Colonial America (<http://www.hispanic.bham.ac.uk/research/dept/history.shtml>).

His research interests focus on History of Religion in Early Modern Spain and Spanish America; Spanish Inquisition; Christianity and Native Religions in Colonial America; Comparative History of Early Modern British, French and Hispanic America.

Teaching

Within the department, he teaches Spanish Peninsular and Spanish American history, including the modules Conquest, Empire and Inquisition in Sixteenth-Century Spain and Spanish America; Vision of the Vanquished: Native Society and Spaniards in America ca. 1400 – ca. 1600; Great Power Intervention in the Spanish Civil War.

His administrative role is Tutor for incoming Erasmus students (semester 1 only).

Dr Griffiths teaches exclusively in Semester 1 of each academic session.

Postgraduate supervision

Since Dr. Griffiths is a part-time lecturer, he is currently unable to undertake postgraduate supervision.

Research

He is currently working on a revised edition of his 2006 book Sacred Dialogues.
